DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 11-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mock (EP 1,079,158).

3. Consider claim 11, Mock teaches the method for operating an injection valve having at least one piezoelectric actuator (8), a displaceable component (10), a hydraulic element (11), and a common housing (1) with said actuator, said component, and said element disposed therein, the method which comprises; reversibly controlling a stroke of the displaceable component by applying a drive voltage to the actuator; biasing the actuator with a bias voltage having a bias opposing a polarization direction of the actuator (paragraph 0011).

4. Consider claim 12, Mock teaches the bias voltage is lower than a voltage causing a change in a polarity of the actuator (paragraph 0010).

5. Consider claim 13, Mock teaches which comprises increasing the stroke of the displaceable component by applying the bias voltage (paragraph 0024).

6. Consider claim 14, Mock teaches the bias voltage to effect a reduction in an energy consumption of the actuator (paragraph 0024).

7. Consider claim 15, Mock teaches the drive voltage together with bias voltage for setting a defined stroke of the displaceable component (paragraph 0024).
8. Consider claim 16, Mock teaches a volume of material injected with the injection valve by way of the defined stroke of the displaceable component (paragraph 0024).
9. Consider claim 17, Mock teaches the claimed invention as described above in claim 11.
10. Consider claim 18, Mock teaches the claimed invention as described above in claim 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

13. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

14. Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mock (EP 1,079,158)

15. Consider claim 19, Mock teaches an injection valve for injecting fuel into the gasoline engine (paragraph 0034). It would be obvious to inject gasoline into an engine since some engines run on gasoline.

16. Consider claim 20, Mock teaches an injection valve for injecting fuel into the engine (paragraph 0034). It would be obvious to inject diesel fuel into an engine since some engines run on diesel fuel.
